

Web Hosting

All websites have an address – and as such, they require a location. The same is applicable to emails. Hosting gives you a “location” for your website and your emails. However, not all hosted packages are the same.

At its simplest, hosting is an external space to hold data, whether it be files or emails; and websites are a number of files meshed with each other to form a site.

What Should You Be Looking For?

How much website traffic will my hosting allow me?

Are the bandwidth charges easy to understand
– or are there hidden extras?

Can I access my emails on the move, be it by smart phone,
remote connection, laptop etc?

Will my email address match my web address?

Whether you are looking for web hosting for your personal website or you require more advanced features for your business hosting, Dolphin Computer Upgrades Ltd have the right solution for you. Their website hosting packages gives you unlimited website traffic, and no hidden extra bandwidth bills, no matter how successful your website becomes.

It may seem only a little thing, but having your web site and email hosted by a professional company who really understand your business requirements could make all the difference to your future endeavours.

All services can be catered for, from domain name registration to hosting and database applications, through to professional business class email with Microsoft Exchange.

Support Line:
01273 248871

help@dolphinupgrades.com

www.dolphinupgrades.com

Web Hosting

No matter what you do on a Smartphone, laptop, desktop or even accessing your mailbox at any computer on the internet, all information is synchronised in real time. What does this mean? It means that it saves you that most precious of commodities – time! If you access your inbox away from your main computer and you reply, delete, archive, forward, or anything else, you won't have to duplicate the procedures once back at your desk.

As a business, if your email doesn't match your web pages it will leave you at a distinct disadvantage. For example, if you have "www.mybusiness.com" as your domain name, but then you have your email as "myname@randominternetprovider.co.uk.", then you may be missing out. If your email address is not the same as your company name then you may find you're not taken seriously, or seen as "unprofessional".

Dolphin Computer Upgrades Ltd can supply you with a professional mail system, and provide invoicing and full support, which means that you don't have to deal with any call centers or third parties; all of this is underwritten and guaranteed by the UK's number one web host, Fasthosts, who host more websites than any other provider.

Our Hosting Packages Include:

- ✓ Shared Hosting
- ✓ Dedicated Server
- ✓ Cloud Server
- ✓ Email Services
- ✓ Email Archiving

DCULTD can divert your email from your current website and also look at hosting your website for you, as they are able to beat any hosting cost that you're currently paying*. Please call us on 01273 248871 for an informal chat to discuss your requirements, or to give you a demonstration of Exchange, so you can understand its full potential.

Packages as Individual as You!

Please contact Dolphin Computer Upgrades today; as we can tailor a system for you needs, meaning you're not paying for services you require. We can put the right package together and either hand this over to you to manage or we can fully manage this for you. Contact us today, for a price matching your needs.

Support Line:
01273 248871

help@dolphinupgrades.com

www.dolphinupgrades.com